

Oklahoma Flier Back From Attack On Germany As Top Ace

A U. S. FLIER BASE IN ENGLAND, May 8.—(AP)—Capt. Robert S. Johnson of Lawton, Okla., a Thunderbolt pilot, shot down two enemy planes over Germany today to boost his total to 27—all bagged in the air—and become the first American Ace in the European theater to break Capt. Edward Rickenbacker's combat record of 26 aircraft kills in the first World War.

Johnson thus tied the record set in the southwest Pacific by Maj. Richard I. Bong, 23, of Poplar, Wis.

Johnson's two kills today still were unofficial, but there was little doubt they would be confirmed. He is a member of the famous Thunderbolt unit commanded by Col. Hubert Zemke, Missoula, Mont., which claimed a total of six Germans downed today.

In the European theater, Capt. Don Gentile of Piqua, Ohio, now on home leave, holds the present record of enemy planes destroyed by an American pilot, with a total score of 30, of which seven were destroyed on the ground.

Johnson, a stubby, blond youngster who asked for 25 additional hours of combat duty after completing his regular tour, and Major Bong are the only Americans bettering Rickenbacker's mark strictly in air combat.

Bong, a Lightning pilot, was the first to break that record, although both Maj. Gregory Boyington, Okanogan, Wash., now missing, and Marine Maj. Joe Foss of Sioux Falls, S. D., who is not now on active flying duty, had equalled Rickenbacker's 26 in their careers in the Pacific area.

Bong also has nine probables, which went down smoking but were not seen to crash and thus have not been tallied as planes destroyed.

Johnson, who is 24 years old, had brought his score to 25 by mid-April, including six planes downed over Berlin. The location of his kills today was not disclosed immediately.

He is regarded as a cool, deadly pilot and is confident but not cocky about his flying ability. He once remarked that a fighter pilot needed "good eyes and a good neck" to survive. "If you haven't those—you are a goner."

Johnson first flew solo in a plane when he was only 14 years old, and obtained a civilian pilot license in 1939. He was a carpenter and woodworker before joining the army.

He was an amateur boxer, also—he weighs 165 pounds—and

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

I have upon my desk a paperweight which is quite out of the ordinary, and which I prize very highly.

It was presented to me Thursday afternoon by Court Bailiff Richard S. Ramsey, and is from the famous double, covered wooden bridge that for 102 years spanned the North Fork of Paint Creek a short distance west of New Holland, on the Washington C. H. and New Holland Road (U. S. Route 22), and was torn down a year ago.

The paperweight is made from white oak taken from the old bridge, and is some five inches in length by two inches square, with three sides and the ends polished, and the weathered side left in its natural state.

The timber is just as solid as the day it was placed in the bridge over 100 years ago, and the grain stands out sharply under the polish given it.

Dick is much interested in preserving antiques and things historic, and the paperweight is one of the ways he has taken to help preserve the memory of the historic old bridge.

Bill Curry has sworn off taking a bath, or trying to take a bath, when there is no one around the house to answer the telephone and doorbell.

It all came about one evening this week when Bill started to clean up.

He had just stepped into the bath tub and started the scrubbing process, when the telephone rang. He dripped water all the way from the bath room to the telephone and answered the call.

Then he returned to the little matter of taking his bath. Two minutes later the doorbell rang, and Bill hastily donned his bathrobe (I think he forgot it in answering the telephone), and went to the door.

He was certain he would have no more interruptions, so was leisurely enjoying the tub when the telephone rang the second time. Bill used some strong language, he admits, but again went down stairs to the phone. Before he could reach it, the dog-gone phone stopped. He stood about, first on one foot and then the other for five minutes, awaiting the bell to sound again. Nothing happened. He went back up stairs, muttering.

Returning to the tub for the third time, Bill started adding the finishing touches to his bath when "r-i-n-g! r-i-n-g!" went the door bell.

Now thoroughly out of humor and just as thoroughly disgusted with the bath as a whole, Bill went to the door, and then returning to the tub for the fourth time, proceeded to make a lightning finish of his bath before the phone or door bell could ring once more.

WINTER HAS LAST FLING IN SOUTHERN STATES

ATLANTA, May 8.—(AP)—A persistent winter hangover pushed temperatures to new record lows in several southern cities last week end.

Lowest of all was the freezing mark of 32 degrees at Fayetteville, Ark., its first ice-maker in May for 34 years, topped off by a light snow Saturday.

Sunday brought Atlanta's coldest May 7 in 46 years with a low of 38 and Birmingham's new May low of 35, accompanied by frost.

YANK BOMBERS HIT JAP CONVOY IN EAST INDIES

Enemy Steps Up Attacks In China and Burma To Beat Monsoons

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ

(By the Associated Press)

Japanese land armies today stepped up the pace of their offensives in India and China but in the Dutch East Indies an eight-ship Nipponese convoy was unable to dodge Allied aerial might.

Today's communique from Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten said the Japanese, with only a few days remaining before the drenching monsoons set in, have opened up a strong offensive in the Imphal-Kohima sector of northeastern India.

The communique commented only that the enemy is suffering heavy losses. Imphal, capital of Manipur state on the Burma border, and Kohima, 60 miles north, have been stumbling blocks in Japan's Indian invasion and have resisted capture for many weeks despite strong pressure.

Fighting in Burma Allied patrols have cleaned out 28 miles of the Imphal-Kohima road and two villages southeast of Imphal have been captured.

At least 350 Japanese were killed in recent fighting on the

RETIRING OLD MAN VICTIM OF STABBER

Philadelphia Police Baffled By Killing

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—(AP)—Police followed fresh leads today in an effort to discover why someone with "motives of revenge or a grudge" killed a retiring, church-going 73-year-old man who apparently had not an enemy in the world.

But officers expressed little hope for an early solution of what Captain William Engle of the homicide squad termed "one of the most vicious murders" in local history.

The victim, William H. Harten, a retired gas works employee, was stabbed at least 30 times, an autopsy showed yesterday. His body was found Saturday in the hotel room that had been his home for 30 years.

YANK PLANES RAMMED BY DESPERATE GERMANS

LONDON, May 8.—(AP)—A number of instances of German fighters ramming American planes was reported after today's heated aerial battles over Germany, but it appeared doubtful that the German high command had adopted the suicide dive as a definite policy in an effort to stop the Americans.

One reason against the possibility of such a policy of plane-for-plane sacrifice was that the fact the German air force is greatly outnumbered.

102,000 Massacred In Poland By Nazis; Mass Graves Found

LONDON, May 8.—(AP)—A Soviet commission investigating war atrocities has charged that more than 102,000 civilians and war prisoners were murdered by the Nazis in the Rovno region of old Poland.

A Moscow broadcast quoted the commission as saying 49,000 bodies were found in a timber dump in Byeli Street, Rovno, that 32,500 were in vegetable gardens and 500 on the territory of Rovno prison.

The commission, asserting the executions still were another proof of a Nazi plan for the extermination and devastation of Soviet territory, quoted a witness as saying some of the victims were forced to dig their own graves and then were shot with Tommy guns while others were killed in sealed gas trucks.

The commission named the Nazi officials accused of the atrocities and declared "the hour is not distant when they will suffer deserved punishment."

SCARS OF WAR

(Editors note: Eddy Gilmore of the Associated Press Moscow staff is visiting the Polish Army on the first Ukrainian front, the farthest west any Russian-German war started.)

By EDDY GILMORE

EN ROUTE TO THE POLISH ARMY STATION ON THE FIRST UKRAINIAN FRONT IN RUSSIA, May 8.—(AP)—One of the greatest scars on the body of Russia is an old Jewish city which the Germans bombed, burned and dynamited until only the remnants remain.

Strange shapes and scenes appear at the outskirts.

"Right here is what is left of the old Jewish cemetery," said the Polish lieutenant with whom I was riding in a Dodge. "Look what the Nazis did to it."

A gigantic tank trap had been made on the tombstones. The cemetery itself, which lies south of a highway and railroad crossing, looked as if a giant armed with a telephone pole had marched through, clubbing every tombstone on the landscape.

Bodies beneath apparently had not been disturbed.

The high crossing at the rail line had been a German defense stronghold as the Red army pushed toward the eastern and northeastern suburbs of the city. The Germans had raided the cemetery for material to halt Russian tanks.

Soviet guidebooks say that in 1928 the town's population was 65 percent Polish and 3 percent miscellaneous. We passed through the town in the early afternoon and in the place where once 100,000 lived, we saw no more than 10 civilians and these were mostly on the outskirts.

The center of the city was a mass of rubble of broken sawtooth walls and buildings without roofs, windows and fronts. The former monastery of the "barefooted Carmelites" is mostly in ruins.

NARROW ESCAPE!

Bombs Dropped from Plane Falls on One Below

A NINTH U. S. ARMY AIR FORCE BOMBER BASE, England, May 8.—(AP)—Capt. Hiram F. Conant of Cambridge, Mass., looked out the window of an A-20 light bomber he was piloting over France recently and saw a 500-pound bomb rolling around on his wing.

The incident occurred when Conant was forced to maneuver his Havoc under others above him, a Ninth Air Force announcement said. Before he could move away an A-20 directly over Conant's dropped its bombs and a 500-pounder landed on his right wing flap.

"I looked out that window and saw that thing rolling around," Conant said. "I figured it wouldn't be long before it exploded."

But it rolled off before he had time to rock the wings of his plane.

Vision Of Jesus On Cross in Sky Viewed As Good Omen in England

IPSWICH, England, May 8.—(AP)—The Rev. ## PRESIDENT BACK AT DESK FACING MANY PROBLEMS

Lend-lease and Simplified Tax Program Questions Before Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, back from a month's vacation in the Southland, went back to work at his White House desk today on a number of military and political problems.

Mr. Roosevelt called in Congressional leaders for a discussion of legislative problems which have developed during his absence from the Capital.

One of the principal topics was the government's seizure of the Montgomery Ward properties in Chicago as the result of labor difficulties.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull met the president on his special train when it pulled into Washington yesterday and brought him up to date on international affairs.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he was feeling a great deal better than when he left Washington a month ago to recuperate from recurrent attacks of influenza. He vacationed at the Georgetown, S. C., estate of his old friend, Bernard M. Baruch.

Lease Lend Fight

Senator McKellar of Tennessee, acting chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, today called for a sharp reduction in lend-lease funds. His statement came as the administration asked Congress for about $3,500,000,000 to carry on the program in the fiscal year starting next July. The current year's appropriation is around $3,400,000,000.

"I hope there will be a substantial tapering off of these expenditures from now on," McKellar said. "The United States has certainly been enormously generous in our aid to our Allies."

Senate approval of a measure to extend lend-lease was assured when the House-approved measure comes up.

Simplified Taxes The Senate Finance committee was called together to give another lush to the tax simplification bill. But it ran into a protest from Senator Butler (R., Neb.) against its charity deduction provisions. Butler said the House-

CHAIN STORE AND MAIL ORDER SALES INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—Chain store and mail order sales amounted to $1,245,000,000 in March, nine percent greater than for March, 1943, the Commerce Department estimated today.

For the first quarter of this year, sales totaled $3,385,000,000, a gain of four percent over the corresponding period last year.

Attorney General's Office To Clear Up Some of Questions Sure To Arise When Returning Servicemen Seek To Go Back To Work They Left

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—The attorney general's office is preparing an opinion designed to clear up some of the intricate questions certain to arise when the G. I. Joes and G. I. Josies come back home in force and apply for their old jobs.

The right of returning service personnel to get back their pre-war employment—if still qualified to fill the position—was written into the original Selective Service Act of 1940, like this:

"If such person was in the employ of a private employer, such employer shall restore such person to such position or to a position of like seniority, status and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so."

Similar provision was made for employees of federal and local governments furloughed to the armed forces.

But the law did not attempt to go into such complications as conflicting seniorities between civilians and returned veterans, the possible case of the civilian em-

MOST OF PRISONERS ARE NAZI FIGHTERS

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—By far the largest number of war prisoners held by the United States are fighters from Nazi Germany.

The War Department disclosed today it has interned 183,618 captives, of which 133,135 are Germans, 50,136 are Italians and 347 are Japanese. They now are imprisoned in camps located throughout the United States.

The War Department said it had found the prisoners valuable in alleviating the labor shortage in some areas.

BERLIN'S RUINS HIT AGAIN BY YANK BOMBERS

Gestapo Clamping Down on Occupied Countries as Big Rush Nears

(By the Associated Press) A sky-blackening fleet of 2,000 American planes struck massively again today at Berlin and the aircraft center of Brunswick after British bombers in great strength smashed widely at invasion nerve centers in France and Bucharest in Romania.

Russian bombers intensified the fiery siege of Sevastopol in the Crimea where the Germans said "extraordinarily powerful" Red forces were attacking to free Russian divisions for decisive battles of the summer. The 25,000 Axis survivors were believed gasping their last, for Berlin spoke of "fluctuating battles." Elsewhere on the great eastern front, action was minor.

Artillery spoke louder on all Italian fronts where signs increased of impending Allied offensive action. The Germans nervously predicted invasion from Britain within six or eight days. They virtually banned civilian traffic on French railroads after May 15.

Invasion Strategy German strategy makers are expected here to face their most fateful hour of decision about a week—perhaps a day or so either way—from the time a full-scale Allied invasion force hits western Europe.

Their choice, as authorities in Washington see it, will be that of gambling for real victory by committing all they have to an effort to throw the invaders into the sea, or attempting to stabilize surrounding lines for a stalemate.

Despite the difficulties of amphibious attack, the chances for accomplishing the actual landings and establishing the beachheads, at reasonable cost, are considered good.

The time of crisis, for the Nazis as well as for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces, is expected to be in about six or eight days when the Germans have had time to assess the power and main striking position of the Allies.

Should the Nazis believe it possible to smash the beachhead or beachheads completely, they may be expected to use all their strength to do it.

Enemy Strength London dispatches, apparently based on authoritative Allied information, place enemy reserve strength behind the western coast at 54 to 67 divisions. These should be able to move swiftly with or without railroads, since the Germans must have made provision against aerial destruction of their rail centers.

The same considerations that apply to the ultimate German use of land forces apply as well to their air fleet. The best-backed opinion is that the Nazis are hoarding fighter plane strength against two alternatives. If they see a chance for decision while the invasion still is developing, they will throw it into action without restraint; otherwise they may seek to preserve it as long as possible as a threat, using the same "fleet in being" strategy the Japanese now apply to their navy.

Air Landing Rehearsal RAF transport planes and glidermen last week landed masses of troops and parachutists in one of the biggest pre-invasion

Farmers Propose Test Suit On Time Row

COMMISSIONERS TAKE NO ACTION ON PROPOSITION

Opponents Say Fast Time Illegal and Not Ohio's Official Time

Prospects of settling the time question permanently for Fayette County emerged from the county commissioners' Monday morning session when five farmers appeared before the board to plead for a settlement of the controversy. Roughly, the proposal was this: The Court House clock would be turned up to fast time so that a suit may be brought against the change on the grounds that slow time is the legal time for the state. If the suit is won, the clock would be turned back to slow time.

This action would eliminate bi-annual wrangle to determine which time the county will adopt, the commissioners said. While the commissioners took no vote on the farmers' proposal, they indicated afterward that they would order the clock set ahead an hour. They also emphasized that the test suit idea did not originate with the commissioners and said that any action along that line would have to be instituted by taxpayers.

TO CHANGE CLOCK

During the noon hour and after leaving their office, County Commissioners Nisley, Miller and Parrett stated that they had decided definitely to vote during the afternoon on changing the Court House clock to Eastern War Time (fast time). They stated that the result of the vote would be to make the change but did not indicate whether the vote would be unanimous. The time of changing the clock probably will not be before Saturday midnight, they indicated.

J. O. Tressler, Charles Griffith, Jesse Hagler, Willard Perrill and Loren Hynes were the five farmers who attended the commissioners' morning session.

The test case apparently was favored by most of the farmers and the commissioners. Willard Perrill said: "I think the best thing to do is to move it up and then bring a suit to move it back." J. O. Tressler, in presenting the farmers' case, said there were two reasons why slow time benefits agriculture: first that employees have to get into the stores Saturday evening and if the county were on fast time, it would be necessary to let them off an hour earlier, and second, that when tools break, it might be too late to get into town to have repairs made if the stores were on fast time.

Tressler added the 20 Farm Bureau councils in the county were against fast time and Loren Hynes, county Grange deputy, said the Granges still stood behind their petitions asking the commissioners to keep the Court House clock on slow time.

Commissioner Jean S. Nisley said he would "like to put it up to a referendum. We tried to get it on the ballot but it was too late." He pointed out as well that the two times were causing "too much confusion in the city."

It was pointed out that 84 of Ohio's 88 counties were on fast time now and Commissioner Homer Miller remarked that "all the counties around us are on fast time."

Miller, in speaking of the test case, said it would probably be settled quickly after it was brought to court. Jesse Hagler summed the whole situation in a sentence when he said, "What that clock under that woman says is going to rule the town."

The commissioners repeatedly stated they had to "decide something" since they had been "sitting on a powder keg" too long.

TENANT HOUSE ROOF BURNS EARLY SUNDAY

Bloomington Fire Engine Saves Building

Fire destroyed the roof of a four room frame tenant house on Mrs. Gertie Holland's farm on the Jones Road about 8:30 A. M. Sunday.

A cement water tank on the farm plus Bloomington's fire engine saved the house, Mrs. Holland said. She said she could not estimate the damage from the fire and water, but added insurance should cover the loss.

All the furniture belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed, who live in the house, was saved. The Reeds have moved into a tenant house on Fred LeBeau's farm on the White Oak Pike, Mrs. Holland said.

The cause of the fire is not known, although Mrs. Holland believes it must have started with a spark from the chimney. A faulty chimney could not have been the root of the blaze, she said, because an entirely new chimney had been built recently. There was no electric wiring in the part of the house where the fire originated, she added.

BALLOTS CHECKED BY ELECTION BOARD

'Everything Is O. K.' Here Clerk Declares

"Everything is O. K.," Glenn B. Rodgers, clerk of the county's election board, said, after he and other members had checked all absent voter ballots and the applications for them.

The check was made in compliance with instructions from the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, the state's chief election officer. Hummel said in a public statement "numerous complaints of alleged violations of the election laws" had come into his office.

The absent voter ballot applications also are being "carefully preserved," Rodgers said. The secretary of state had ordered them impounded.

Similar instructions were sent by Hummel to election boards all over the state.

There has been no official interpretation on these things to date, and the questions expected to arise are numerous and devious.

The option of going back to former work rests with the veteran, who has 40 days after his discharge in which to apply for reinstatement to his job. If he elects to take other work, he naturally is free to do so.

In either case, the reemployment committee of his local draft board stands ready to give advice and assistance.

The list of initiates was not available Monday, but McKinney said the response to the bond sale was "gratifying" when eleven members of the lodge bought $375 worth of War Bonds.

The bond rally was held during the short intermission between the conclusion of the installation and initiation ceremonies and the serving of the supper.

New Debt Ceiling

In the face of vigorous Republican opposition to a $50,000,000,000 increase in the public debt limit, the administration agreed to cut back its request for a new debt ceiling from $260,000,000,000 to $240,000,000,000.

Daniel W. Bell, undersecretary of the treasury, told the House ways and means committee "It would be all right with us" to make the cut back, with the understanding that the administration will make a request for a still higher ceiling early next year.

The administration originally asked that the limit be boosted from $210,000,000,000 to $260,000,000,000 on an assumption the debt would reach $258,000,000,000 by June 30, 1945.

As Air Chief Marshal Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory, Allied air commander, watched from an RAF control tower, the transports flew over precisely on time and dropped parachutists on selected pin-point spots. A moment later, the first glider towing aircraft arrived.

Before the maneuver Leigh-Mallory told the participants, "One of the great moments in history is in front of you."

Gestapo in western Europe with lists of political untrustables and prominent individuals marked for summary seizure, an informant with underground connections with Germany said today.

Hitler selected for command of this vast police force General von Woyrsch, one of the Nazis' most notorious disciplinarians.

The minute the Allies set foot upon the western shores of Europe, the Germans are said to be all set to begin one of the greatest mass roundups of the war with prospects that firing squads will have their hands full.

The informant said the program calls for the immediate arrest of prominent leaders in various parts of western Europe to be held as hostages and executed in case of hostility by the public.

Germans Watch Norway

The Germans are said to be watching Norway as one of the likely invasion points. Stockholm dispatches told of a second German line of defense under construction on Jutland all the way from the east to the west coast.

Another Swedish report said the province of South Holland, including The Hague, had been declared a closed area that may be visited only by special permit. Civilians also were banned from flooded areas of Holland and forbidden to keep boats there.

Harking back to May 10, 1940, when the Germans started their drive toward the channel coast, a Paris radio commentator said the approaching May 10 "is not only an anniversary for France—it is a new beginning."

Yanks Blast Berlin

Around 2,000 American planes struck Berlin Sunday and the Nazis cried out that their capital had been "condemned to death." The Swedes said 1,000 died there yesterday. Today, Flying Fortresses and their fighter convoys struck the capital while Liberators buffeted Brunswick.

Berlin and Bucharest still were afire from Sunday assaults, where Allied air armadas sought them out. It was the third great blow at the Romanian capital in 24 hours. A thousand American planes hit Bucharest yesterday.

"In great strength," British ## bombers last night attacked the Rennes air field and other French targets in Nantes, Tours, Salbris and the Normandy coast. The German chemical center of Leverkusen north of Cologne was hit again and Nantes were laid. Nine RAF bombers were lost.

The Mediterranean air forces destroyed 29 German planes yesterday and lost 14 planes of the 1,500 dispatched against the enemy. Besides Bucharest, the Belgrade-Pancevo bridge in Yugoslavia, shipping off Dalmatia and tactical targets in Italy were attacked.

Destroyers harried the Germans on both sides of Italy. Americans shelled supply dumps around the Anzio beachhead and British destroyers bombarded German traffic on a coastal road in Albania south of Valona.

German forces have launched strong drives throughout Yugoslavia in an apparent effort to crush the Yugoslav partisan army during the temporary lull on other Allied fronts, headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

Liberation Agreement

The Russian and Czech governments have signed an agreement for the administration of areas of Czechoslovakia liberated by the Red Army, communiques issued simultaneously in London and Moscow announced today.

The Red Army reached the Czech border in the Carpathians several weeks ago. We Stand Squarely for the Best Interest of the Citizens of Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

Primary Election Tuesday

Every man and woman in Fayette County, old enough to vote, has a definite duty as a citizen Tuesday.

On that date the people of Ohio will select their party candidates for governor, for other state offices, for congress and for most county offices.

Present prospects indicate a very light vote in this county. As is usually the case there will be many men and women who will not take the trouble to register their choices of candidates for these public offices, many of which are important. It seems probable that a majority of citizens here in Fayette County, and elsewhere over the country, will fail to exercise one of their most vital rights.

It is difficult to understand why so many persons take no interest in a primary election. In some ways the primary is more important than the general election. It is impossible to elect good, capable men to public office unless good men are nominated. That is a self evident fact.

The kind of government we have, good, bad or indifferent, is determined by our public officials. This means that it is important to every citizen to get the best possible candidates in both parties, at the primary.

There are contests for all of the state offices, contests for some of the district and county offices. Under the primary system of selecting candidates it is the duty of every citizen to secure as much information as possible in regard to the candidates and then go to the polls and register his choice. In our judgment one reason we do not have more efficient and capable administration of public affairs in many places, is because so little interest is taken in primary elections by the rank and file of the people. If politicians knew that our citizens would take an active interest in a primary and almost all of them would vote, we would have better men and women aspiring to hold these offices.

We can hear someone say: "But I don't know anything about the candidates and would not know for whom to vote if I went to the polls." This is a poor excuse. If a person takes the interest in public affairs that as a good citizen he should, he will know about the candidates. It will be a little trouble to get the information but it is available and obtainable.

Exercise one of the greatest rights of an American. Go to the polls Tuesday and vote for the candidates you believe will most efficiently and faithfully perform the duties of the office to which they aspire. It is a duty you owe yourself and your country.

German Air Strength

The decision was made long ago that Allied invasion of Europe would be undertaken only after German air strength had been depleted to the point that it would be unable to offer more than a token resistance. This statement was made repeatedly by Allied commanders in connection with the day-and-night raids on Nazi territory.

During the early days of the present

British Service Women Worry About Civvies

LONDON—With the announcement of new, smart civvies for men discharged from the British armed forces, the women's services are campaigning for better treatment.

At present discharged Wrens are allowed to keep their uniforms and are given $4.50 and some coupons, but not as many as a civilian gets in a year. The WAAFs get one pair of shoes, their underwear and a grant of $17.50, plus an extra $17.50 for an overcoat if they are discharged in winter.

Service women complain that the allotment is pitifully inadequate since most of them have changed weight while on duty.

Today's Horoscope

A birthday today means that you have a sunny disposition and a charming personality. You have a good deal of originality, wit and humor, but little self-reliance. You could do much more if you would make the effort and have more self-assurance. You like light literature and good times, and you will always be happy. In the next year, follow your own intuitions and go ahead. Fortune smiles despite a sudden change. This period is favorable for art, music, literature, Army and engineering. The child who is born on this date will be rather imprudent and careless in money matters, thus arousing the displeasure of authority. Happy marriage is probable if the child is feminine.

campaign by air Allied planes met stiff resistance, and some great battles resulted. In some of these encounters Allied losses were heavy, indicating they had met the enemy in force. Recently German resistance has lessened.

This situation posed a question concerning Germany's air strength. It may have been lessened to the point of impotency, which hardly seems possible. There was a report Hitler had 1,000 bombers in reserve against the day of invasion. In spite of serious losses in the air and on the ground, the Luftwaffe still is a force to reckon with. Exactly how strong that force is can only be conjectured.

Nothing short of German surrender can stop the Allies' onward march. In the air, on the sea and on land the Nazis will be blasted. An overwhelming force of men and arms faces the Germans. Whatever air strength Hitler may have will be added to the wreckage that once was Germany.

Driving Speed After the War

Harold F. Hammond, head of the National Conservation Bureau's traffic division, predicts that 65 miles an hour will be the top speed limit on the best highways after the war, no matter how streamlined our cars or how super our highways and motor fuel may be.

We hope that his prediction is correct. In each of our recent peacetime years traffic accidents have taken as many lives as a major military operation. When normal driving is resumed, our pent-up desire for speed will lead the country on an awful motoring binge if we are not curbed.

As Mr. Hammond says, "No one has yet been able to engineer safety into the driver."

First Woman M. D. Led Difficult Life

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

WHEN ONE reads the story of Elizabeth Blackwell in The First Woman Doctor, by Rachel Baker (Published by Julian Messner, Inc., New York), you get the impression that the world do move. The prejudices that were rampant in 1850 about a woman as a doctor were such that other women ostentatiously pulled away their skirts as she passed.

You would have thought they would have been proud of her. She certainly wasn't doing anything wicked. Just, thought the other women, undignified. Well, I repeat, the world do move. Such prejudices are a thing of the past. In my medical classes this year there are six women in the senior and five in the junior class. And very good students they are. And while the prejudices are not entirely gone they are nothing to what they were when Elizabeth Blackwell started out on a medical career.

Early Life

She was born in 1821, in Bristol, England, of a Quaker family. The father was an industrious and successful manufacturer, driven to America in 1832 by labor conditions in England. He was broadminded enough to say his girls should do what they wanted in life even when Elizabeth wanted to study medicine. The family made the acquaintance of Harriet Beecher Stowe and Margaret Fuller and Elizabeth was early inculcated with the ideas of Woman's Rights.

She had a good fundamental education for a woman in the early 1840s. The incident which seemed to mark her vocation for her came when she attended a sick friend of her mother's. The woman was dying and Elizabeth spent long afternoons attending her. "I have often wondered," said the sick woman, "why women who are always preoccupied with the care of the sick are not allowed to become physicians."

Decides to Become Doctor
"If I could have been treated by a woman physician," she added, later, "perhaps my illness would have been better understood." No medical school at that time would admit a woman. She tried in 1848 to be admitted to Jefferson

Medical College, Philadelphia, and the University of Pennsylvania, but was refused.

"You might as well lead a revolution as try to become a physician," she was told by a sympathetic faculty member.

"The gentlemen in our classes" was the objection of another faculty member, "would find it disgusting to have a member of the other sex present in their midst."

Fighting Prejudices

She was rebuffed and refused by all the first ranking medical schools, but finally was accepted at the small Geneva Medical College of Geneva, New York, from which she graduated in 1849.

Her whole life is a record of fighting against prejudice, rebuffs and the overcoming of obstacles that to anyone with less resolution and determination would have been insurmountable. Because she was not admitted to attend at any dispensary for charity patients she financed and built her own—the New York Dispensary, founded in 1850. It was later the New York Infirmary and College for Women and Children. In 1869 Dr. Blackwell settled in England and became Professor of Gynecology in the London School of Medicine for Women. She died in 1910.

She suffered all her life the usual martyrdoms of the pioneer. Once a woman died in her infirmary and the relatives ascribed it to the blundering of women physicians. Their hysteria aroused a mob which tried to batter down the doors of the infirmary and lay hands on Dr. Blackwell. They were calmed only when an eloquent Irishman, a former patient whose life she had saved, harangued them from the front steps. It was not only the ignorant who were prejudiced, Fanny Kemble, the actress, refused to give a benefit performance for the infirmary with the words—"Trust a woman—as a doctor—never."

Among my own former pupils I know a woman who has now an enormous practice as an oculist; two others eminently successful as children specialists; and there are three noble and valuable ladies who have taken the place of three men in an outpatient dispensary.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

"I'll only stay a minute," he said. "I just want you to know what Nate meant about Irina in my cabin."

"It doesn't matter, Colin."

"It does to me."

"Not tonight, Colin. Please—not tonight." Wearily she drew off her parka. "Why talk of what has happened? It's what is going to happen. Nate meant every word he said to you tonight. You can't—"

With an outburst of sudden anger Colin cut her off. "Blair, let's get one thing clear. I've taken everything from Nate I'm going to take. When I came back, you asked me to have my peace with him. I did. I've walked so softly he's beginning to think I'm afraid of him. Well, that's all over. Nate and I are headed for a showdown, and the sooner it comes the better. It wasn't just the trouble with Olsen that started Nate off tonight—he can't stand the idea of any other man existing in the same world with you. And now, whether you want to hear it or not, I'll tell you what Nate meant about Irina."

"The day I got Irina that pup—the last day we went out together—we capsized. I took her to my cabin and bundled her up in blankets. We kissed, and that was all. Dove came to the cabin—whether he saw us kiss or not, I don't know."

"Do you love her, Colin?"

"She's engaged to Rod. Isn't that enough?"

"It's not an answer. If you love her, you shouldn't let Rod stand in your way, for if she loves you she'll never make him happy."

Colin whirled toward her. "Listen, Blair. I'm not in love with Irina. She's Rodney's. And I don't expect to be in love with you—you're Nate's. And I only wish—"

"Father's hat and coat!"—she pointed to the opposite wall—"they're not here." Running across the room, she opened the door of his bedroom. "He's gone!"

Incredulously, Colin's eyes searched Benedict's, then again he said, "Get down to the hospital!"

The old man's hand tightened on Colin's sleeve. "But what can I do?"

"You can do one thing—tell me, no one at all, that I was here." He pushed Blair's father toward the door.

Alone, Colin fell to studying the map, until he heard Blair running up the stairs.

"Father's down in the hospital," she whispered.

"How did you get in?" she asked, but Colin was pointing to the map.

"What do you make of this?" he asked her.

She needed only a second. "It's a mosaic map, made from an airplane. Look—here's a shoreline. You can see the curve of the bank—and it was taken from high up. What's it mean, Colin?"

"It means you're looking at a detail map of the south shore of Hudson Bay. That crescent-shaped inlet where those arrow marks are drawn is the country east of the Beaver." He pointed at the pile of photographs on the table. "Look. There must be dozens of prints here—most of them centered about that inlet."

Step by step he crept forward, then pressed his ear against the wall. A slight sound came out to him, a sound as of dripping water, and sharply he knocked on the door. Instantly the light went out.

Colin spoke in an undertone. "This is Colin Rae, Dr. Benedict. Open the door."

Dead silence. Again Colin spoke, this time louder. "I'll give you half a minute to open that door—then I'm coming through."

Only blackness and utter quiet. Colin took a step back. Heavily his shoulder struck the door, making every board tremble, bringing down from the rafters a shower of powdery dust.

And the echoes of that blow had not died when the words came, "Wait! Please wait."

A light clicked on, and slowly the door swung open. Under the solitary light Dr. Benedict's face had aged ten years. The little room was even more crowded than before. The radio set still stood in the opposite corner; dozens of ten-gallon cans lined the farther wall, and on them Colin read the words "grain alcohol"—the source of smuggled liquor to the Crees?

One open crate held a huge airplane camera, and about it drums of film were stacked high. Three trays filled with strong-smelling liquids were on the table, and beside them a photograph enlarger.

But Colin's interest was centered on a large map spread out on a packing case. It had been made by piecing together a number of photographs, and for a long time he studied it with lowered head. Then he raised his eyes to Benedict, and spoke.

"So you picked the one sure way to break Blair's heart?"

"The physician's face went gray."

"Colin, I—"

Savagely Rae cut him off. "We haven't time for talk. Blair's coming up here. I don't want her to see you the way you look now. Get down to the hospital and stay there."

Benedict grasped Rae's arm. "Colin, I swear I didn't know Dove was smuggling furs!"

Incredulously, Colin's eyes searched Benedict's, then again he said, "Get down to the hospital!"

The old man's hand tightened on Colin's sleeve. "But what can I do?"

"You can do one thing—tell me, no one at all, that I was here." He pushed Blair's father toward the door.

Alone, Colin fell to studying the map, until he heard Blair running up the stairs.

"Father's down in the hospital," she whispered.

The body of the Freed girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Freed of Dennison, was recovered from Little Stillwater Creek April 21, after a three-day search. ## Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Great Britain and a big slice of Hitler's "Fortress Europe" have been lifted from under Der Fuehrer's nose and set down in Texas and surrounding states.

Terrell, Tex., not far from Dallas, is the London of this Europe-in-America, for there scores of British aviation cadets are training for the big day when they will be winging over the continent to bomb Hitler's cities and knock the Luftwaffe out of the sky.

One of Britain's biggest training problems has been the limits of its little isle. Even from the innermost training fields, it is impossible to make training flights of any distance without flying over water or enemy-infested skies across the channel.

One of the great benefits is that on the map of Texas and surrounding states, the missions over Europe can be simulated. For example, out of Terrell, the radars streak across the skies to Emden (Turner, Ark.); Cologne (Vicksburg, Miss.); Paris (Beaumont, Tex.); Dunkerque (Henderson, Tex.); Cork, Ireland (Lubbock); and Warsaw (Albuquerque, N. M.).

In six months, the British aviation cadets undergo the equivalent of the U. S. Army's primary, basic and advanced ground school and flight training. They return to England for operational training. Other civilian contract schools training British pilots, according to aeronautical training society headquarters here, are located at Miami and Ponca City, Okla.; Mesa, Ariz., and Clewiston, Fla. At each school RAF pilots check and supervise the training, but the actual instruction is given by the schools' civilian personnel.

At Terrell, the spirit of British-American cooperation is exemplified in the school's Latin motto "Mares Nos Dividit—Sed Caela Conjungunt," which means "The seas divide us—but the air unites us." The school crest contains the British lion, the American eagle, clasped hands and the lone star of Texas.

Maj. William F. Long, a veteran of World War I and one of the country's best known aviation executives, is founder and principal partner of the Terrell school. He is also operator of two other Army contract-schools for U. S. pilots at Hicks field, Fort Worth and Curtis field, at Brady, Tex.

He is one of the small civilian group Gen. H. H. "Hap" Arnold handed the tough problem of providing primary training for Army pilots back in 1939. Co-director of the Terrell school is L. H. Luckey, of Miami, Okla., who started his flying career 22 years ago when he traded Maj. Long a Packard car for an old World War I "Jenny." Luckey became associated with Maj. Long in 1941 when the first contingent of British cadets were brought to Terrell for training.

Mrs. Robert Moyer Guest of Honor At Dinner Party

Mrs. Charles Hall of Frankfort (Marilyn McCoy) entertained at the attractive country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. McCoy, a most delightful and informal dinner, Saturday evening, in compliment to Mrs. Robert W. Moyer (nee Juanita Purcell) on her marriage.

When the four-course dinner was served in the attractively-appointed dining room, covers were laid for eight guests. Centering the attractively-appointed table was a mirror arrangement of red tulips and white lilacs, placed around two crystal figurines.

Those present for the evening were Miss Florence Purcell of Columbus, Mrs. Della Purcell, Mrs. Roy Purcell, Miss Donna Marilyn Purcell, Mrs. Hazel Moyer, Mrs. Walter E. McCoy and the hostess.

Games and contests were enjoyed by the guests, at the close of which they assembled in the school dining room where many lovely gifts were placed. The guest of honor graciously accepted each birthday remembrance. Included with the guests were the members of the faculty of Wilson school.

Refreshments consisting of cookies, ice-cream and suckers were then served, bringing to a close a jolly afternoon of fun for the youngsters.

To stop hot grease from spattering, sift a quarter teaspoon of flour into the grease.

Lemons will yield more juice if put in hot water for several minutes before squeezing.

the public interest.

Every so often some public official or agency has to be called to account for failure to comply with this requirement. This occurred in Kentucky under the law in question, and resort was then had to the courts to compel compliance. In upholding the law the court said, to quote only one sentence, "It had a beneficial purpose and, when well employed, no doubt has wholesome influence."

There was a world of truth in the reference to a "wholesome influence." The publication of such matters in newspapers of general circulation, as the law generally provides, has a healthy effect on the public as well as upon its servants. It is necessary information for the former and an effective spur for the latter and thus pays double dividends.

LEARN TO SMILE

In this time of stress and hurry, Let us learn to smile; It will make the way seem brighter; Try it out awhile; In a store or office, factory, Show a pleasant face; On the street friends and unknowns greet; They'll admire your grace; Rich and poor can make the effort—Smiles are yours to use; If you ignore this precious gift, You're the one to lose; A smile may soothe an aching heart, Give courage, good cheer; If all the world would only smile, War's end would be here.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today said he interpreted a proposal of Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) to take final decision on railway labor disputes out of the hands of the economic stabilization director, as opening the way to other amendments to a pending stabilization authority bill. The bill, now before the Senate banking committee, would extend the authority for 18 months.

Taft said he probably will offer an amendment to the bill to provide for hearings before an Office of Price Administration appeal board in cases where complaints had been made against price-fixing regulations. He also said he may offer an amendment which would prevent the payment of food subsidies after January 1, except under direct appropriations made by Congress.

—Spying— On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—Surprising as it may seem, sports may get a "lift" from returning service men even before the war ends. A number of them are helping to keep pro baseball going on now, we hear that on one of the best prospects seen at Oklahoma's spring football practice was Johnny Austin, a Navy V-12 trainee who saw action all over the Solomons. And Jewell Eastman, former baseball player, wears campaign ribbons all over his chest but won't talk about them. He turns back all questions with: "Let me get back into my stride."

Today's Guest Star
St. Russ Worman, Camp Atterbury, Ind., Camp Crier: "The Cubs and White Sox show none of the 'Chicago lire' they were supposed to have at the season's start. 'Pillow and snore cards' should go well as concessions in the windy city instead of 'pillows and snore cards'."

Monday Matinee
According to Marine trainee Ray Kurovski, the longest hitter among the six baseball-playing Kurovski brothers is Walter, former all-around athlete at Muhlenberg and now a chief specialist (A) at the Bainbridge Naval Training Station, and not George, who does some fair country hitting for the Cardinals. "George Strickler, National Football League tub thumper, says his ambition is to own a farm with a cocker spaniel, a horse and an elephant. But the league isn't trying to get rid of white elephants now."

A Rookie A Day
Thaddeus Cieslak, Phillies' third baseman: A pleasant surprise to Manager Fred Fitzsimmons. Played three years for Oklahoma and one for Wilmington, where he was a promising slugger, before the army took him and let go again.

Good Start For Stengel

By BUCKY O'CONNOR

(By the Associated Press)
Casey Stengel, new skipper of the Milwaukee Brewers, was off to a flying start today as successor to Charlie Grimm, who left the club last week to take over management of the Chicago Cubs. His charges yesterday presented him with a double victory over the threatening Columbus Redbirds in his first day on the job. The triumphs, by 8 to 4 and 7 to 6 margins, enabled Milwaukee to pull three and a half games ahead of the second place Redbirds, and gave the Brewers a clean sweep of a three game series.

Minneapolis whitewashed Louisville twice, 4-0 and 2-0 to reach the .500 mark in the standings. St. Paul handed Indianapolis its seventh and eighth consecutive defeats, 4-2 and 6-3, and Toledo split a double bill with Kansas City, winning the nightcap 18 to 4 after being shut out 2 to 0 in the opener.

Baseball Stars

(By the Associated Press)
George Myatt, Senators, and Bob Estallia, Athletics—Myatt's tenth inning single drove in winning run as Washington best Philadelphia 2-1 in opener. Estallia hit single, triple and homer to give A's even break by winning second, 7-3.

Jack Kramer, Browns, and Alie Reynolds, Indians—Kramer won his fifth game in opener 7-4; Reynolds held Browns to seven scattered hits to give Cleveland an even split, winning second 5-2. Bob Elliott and Al Rubeling, Pirates—Elliott hit two homers in opener to lead Pirates to a 6-5 victory over Cubs in first; Rubeling's home run in eleventh won the second game, 3-2.

Max Lanier, Al Jurisich and Danny Litwhiler, Cardinals—Lanier won fourth straight in beating Reds, 5-1 in opener; Jurisich hurled shutout in nightcap to win 1-0 as Litwhiler hit home run for only score.

PENSIVE POINTED FOR PREAKNESS AFTER DECISIVE UP-SET IN DERBY

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8.—(AP)—The Stir Up of the 70th and richest of all Kentucky Derbies is over.

Pensive, the winner, now is being pointed for the Preakness and later the Belmont Stakes in an effort to annex racing's triple crown. The lean, magnificent chestnut colt, owned by Warren Wright of Chicago, safely tucked away the first leg of the crown by decisively defeating a field of 16 at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Proud Ben Jones, trainer of Pensive, said Pensive came out of the derby in excellent shape and was ready to contest the issue in the Preakness with several of the horses he so convincingly whipped in the derby, plus those Pre-Derby favorites which did not run—Pukka Gin, Royal Prince and Olympic Zenith.

The Preakness, at a mile and three-sixteenths, carries a purse of $50,000 in added money and will be decided next Saturday at Pimlico.

Pensive and 22-year-old Conn McCreary, the jockey, made a magnificent team. Pensive ran the mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5 on a track that was good, but not fast, and his time would have been better had not the hard riding Georgie Woolf and Eddie Arcaro caught him in a jam as the trio neared the finish.

As Woolf, riding Broadcloth, which finished second, sought to block off the oncoming Pensive by pulling over to Arcaro on Stir Up, McCreary quickly shot to the rail and finished with such a tremendous burst of speed neither Arcaro nor Woolf knew what was happening.

The combination of Arcaro and Stir Up had the crowd, variously estimated at 60,000 to 70,000, in such a lather it went to the post a 7-5 favorite. Pensive paid $16.20 for a $2 winning ticket and earned a check of $64,675, a new record for derby winners, for owner Wright.

Betting for the Derby day nine-race program also set a new record. The amount totaled $2,139,982 as compared with the record of $2,096,613 established in 1926.

Out in front by three lengths, Pensive (1) sweeps across the finish line at Churchill Downs, above, to win the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby, classic of American racing. Second is Broadcloth (2), while Stir Up (3), the pre-race favorite by a heavy margin, noses his way out of the pack to take the show spot.

Leaders in Bowling Loops Hold Places; One Deadlocked

Those die-hard bowlers from Mt. Sterling and the ever-plugging Coca Cola outfit continued their nip and tuck race this week in just about the same positions they have been in for more than a month. Last week's bowling on the Main Street alleys made few changes in the Men's City League which is still paced by the Mt. Sterlingers, followed by the Cokes. Behind them in third place are Jeffersonville's Ringers only a hop, skip and a jump ahead of the Producers. Pennington's unpredictable Bakers, who have a habit of crashing through with amazingly fat scores when least expected, are leading the second division, safe for a week at least from the Mac Tool outfit from Sabina. Melvin's Stone Crushers and the Slagle and Kirk boys are still the rear guard.

Lloyd's Markettes skipped along merrily out in front in Woman's City League as another week of bowling opened. They were not even in any immediate danger from Light's Daughters who have been in closest pursuit for several weeks. But the third place Hawklin Treaders were within striking distance of the Light's. The Farmerettes and Craig's Air Stepers were tied for fourth and fifth places and behind them came the Business and Professional Women and Record-Herald Newsgirls, separated by only one game. The Morris Store girls were trailing but they have closed a lot of ground in the last couple of months.

The Foremen, who have dominated the API Men's League for so long, today not only were being challenged by the Production outfit but had been collared by them. The Office boys, in third place, were safe for at least two weeks from the two Inspector teams and the Engineers, all in a bunch, ahead of the Production Controllers and Heat Treaters.

The top of the APA Women's League was lacking in competition, but not so the second division where the P-38s, B-19s and Gliders were in a deadlock. The Aeronauts continued at the top, followed by the Gremlins and Spitfires.

EXPECT LIGHT VOTE TUESDAY ALL OVER OHIO

Lack of Contests in This County To Reduce Total Cost

Not only in Fayette County, where there is only one contest on both county tickets, is a light vote expected at Tuesday's primary election, but throughout Ohio a similar condition is predicted.

In Fayette County where thirty of absent voters asked for absentee ballots, the clerk of the Board of Elections, Glenn B. Rodgers, said only about two dozens of the soldiers' votes had been returned to go into Tuesday's ballot boxes.

As usual, returns of the election will be tabulated at the Record-Herald office Tuesday night.

The primary election riddles that have stumped experts for weeks, will be solved when voters complete casting their ballots at 6:30 P.M., slow time, Tuesday evening, but because of the large field of candidates, the results may not be known until late, even though there is a small vote.

Candidates for major offices in the state returned to their homes today to complete campaigning, but on election eve the outcome of the battles for the gubernatorial nominations still was the biggest question mark those races have produced in years.

Some prognosticators felt the races were so tight the weather might be a deciding factor. Others estimated the victors would be nominated by a wide margin.

The weatherman's prediction of "cloudy with rain" for election day was considered by some a good sign for candidates with strength in rural areas, since rain would keep farmers out of the fields and bring out the farm vote while possibly cutting the urban balloting.

Estimates of the number who would go to the polls to select candidates for the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives and major state and county offices varied from 500,000 to 1,250,000. Delegates to Republican and Democratic national conventions also will be selected.

Edward J. Hummel, secretary of state, said he anticipated a light vote. He would not estimate the total. George M. Neffner, former secretary of state and an election expert, gave the million and a quarter estimate.

The vote was 1,419,017 in 1940, the last presidential year, but many electors have gone into the armed services and others have lost their right to vote in recent years by failing to register after moving from one area to another. War workers comprise the major portion of those who have not registered after moving.

The polls will be open from 6:30 A.M. to 6:30 P.M. Central War Time and from 7:30 A.M. to 7:30 P.M. Eastern War Time.

The stretch drive of a campaign that grew more colorful and bitter as it progressed was highlighted last weekend when the 10 gubernatorial candidates—six Democrats and four Republicans—appeared on the same platform at a meeting of Cleveland's City Club to summarize the stand they had taken on various issues during the campaign.

The candidates: Republicans—Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland; Albert E. Payne of Springfield and Mayor James G. Stewart of Cincinnati. Democrats—Walter Baertschi and Frazier Reams, both of Toledo, Frank A. Dye and James W. Huffman, both of Columbus, and Mayor Frank J. Lausche and former Congressman Martin L. Sweeney, both of Cleveland.

FOUR ARRESTS MADE DURING THE WEEK END

Police made four arrests over the week-end, all for intoxication, and those taken into custody were to appear before Judge R. H. Sites for the usual $5 and costs or $10 and costs, depending upon the circumstances of the arrest, sometime Monday.

The week-end was unusually quiet in police circles.

FIELD DAY TO BE TUESDAY IF WEATHER O. K.

Annual Sporting Events for Grade Schoolers Was Postponed Once

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders in the city elementary schools were praying today for a clear day Tuesday so the eighth annual May Day and Child Health Day can be run off without a hitch in Gardner Park.

The annual series of sporting events for youngsters already had been postponed once, when a discouraging drizzle all day Friday made the field day impossible.

Beginning at 9:30 A. M. with opening ceremonies, the day's events will include a 50 yard dash, standing and running broad jumps and relay races for boys and girls; a ball throw for girls and a football punt and high jump for boys.

Jerry J. Kissell, director of athletics, and Miss Edythe Stolzenberg, girls' physical education director, are in charge of the field day. A high school boy and girl are assigned as assistant coaches for each school.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID MISS ELLA KERRIGAN

Impressive funeral services for Miss Ella Kerrigan who passed away during the past week were held at Saint Colman's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning with a large number of friends and relatives in attendance.

Rev. Father Raphael D. Rodgers sang the Requiem High Mass and preached an inspiring sermon.

The acolytes were Billy Boylan, Joseph Cullen, Dannie O'Brien, and Joe Rush.

The casket was banked with floral remembrances.

The Junior Choir which had offered many prayers for Miss Kerrigan throughout the preceding week sang the funeral Mass as a special token of affection and sincere sympathy for her sister, Miss Agnes Kerrigan who had been the teacher of many of its members. Miss Margaret McDonald was at the organ.

The pallbearers were Gus McDonald, Howard Boylan, Carl Timmons, Howard Fogle, James Ducey and Emmitt Passmore.

Interment was in St. Colman's Cemetery under the direction of the Klever Funeral Home.

On Friday evening, preceding the funeral at the home at 434 South North Street, at 8 o'clock, there was Parish Visitation with many neighbors and others in attendance.

Saint Ann's Altar Society attended in a body for the saying of the Rosary, special prayers and the blessing of the casket.

Among the relatives and friends from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson of Columbus, Terrence Kerrigan, Mrs. Joseph Wachsmuth, Miss Ella Ricker, Miss Mary Ricker of Sidney, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pooney, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rooney, Mrs. Mary Rooney of Columbus; Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Rooney, Mrs. Leo Burke Jr. of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Timmons of Wilmington; Cassius Kirkpatrick, Ansel Kirkpatrick, Percy May of New Holland, and Harry Hiser of Milledgeville.

CORN PLANTING BEING DELAYED BY CORN BORER

Ninety-five Per Cent of the Acreage This Year To Be Hybrid

Mindful of the heavy damage to the early planted corn in Fayette County last year, by the European corn borer, farmers generally are delaying planting this year until May 15 or later, in the hope that the late planted corn will thwart the ravages of the borer.

Late planted corn, or corn planted after May 15 last year, escaped with little or no infestation by the borers, and this is being used as a guide to escape the borers this year.

Last year the early planted corn and weather early in the season were favorable for work of the borers, and in some fields nearly half of the corn showed infestation, and much damage was done to the corn.

Neighbors who planted corn later and had corn in fields adjacent to those badly infested, reported a full crop with no apparent damage.

Not only are farmers planting their corn later in the hope of escaping the early brood of borers, but they are planting more hybrid this year than ever before, because some of the hybrids are more resistant to the ravages of the corn borers than the open pollinated varieties.

At least ninety-five percent of this year's large acreage in Fayette County will be hybrid corn.

In this connection it is interesting to know that about 250 acres of hybrid seed will be produced in the county by Harold Mark, John Cannon and Son and Elba Carson, who have produced hybrid seed for many years and are widely known for the quality of the seed produced.

Overseas Veteran Member of Original Company M

Pvt. Charles Butcher, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Butcher of near Good Hope, is today en route to a camp in Louisiana after a 20 day furlough with his parents.

No ordinary furlough was Pvt. Butcher's—he had returned from 25 months overseas duty in the South Pacific area with the original company M.

Pvt. Butcher didn't want to talk about those 25 months. He spent most of his furlough in his fatigue clothes, helping his father with farm chores. He answered questions about his experiences evasively or not at all—it seemed that he just didn't want to talk about it.

Two brothers are overseas now. Pfc. Raymond in Italy and Pfc. Isaac with a Marine detachment on its way overseas.

I am a candidate for The Republican Nomination for SHERIFF OF FAYETTE COUNTY. But under the present tire and gasoline restrictions, and my duties as traveling salesman, it is impossible to call on each and everyone personally in soliciting your support at the MAY 9th PRIMARY. Therefore, I am making my appeal through the press. I have been a resident of Fayette County all of my life, and prior to my present position I was associated with the R. COUNTY HIGHWAY BUILDINGS COST $7,500, REPORT

Three-way Project Is Now Complete, County Engineer Says

County trucks and heavy equipment are now in the just-finished $7500 three-way construction program at the county highway barns, County Engineer Robert Willis said today.

The three local points of the construction program were remodeling of the old highway barn, building a new garage and erecting equipment sheds on the lot at Lakeview Avenue and Mulberry Street.

The $7,500 cost, Willis said, was exclusive of used material on hand at the county barn. Labor already on the county payroll was used for the entire construction, going on during most of March and April, he added.

Actually, a few finishing touches remain—such as putting up a sign and clearing away some of the debris of the project.

Built of concrete blocks, the new garage is 38 by 70 feet. A concrete floor, steel windows and a steel roof truss are other features of the building used as an overnight storage place for county trucks.

Equipment sheds were made entirely of used material salvaged when the old garage was torn down. Made to shelter heavy equipment, the sheds are 28 by 103 feet.

The present barn, a frame building, was modernized with a new concrete floor, a grease pit, a toilet, an office and a strengthening of the roof truss.

Willis said the $7,500 total cost was "just about" the amount anticipated when construction began.
